PREFACE

This publication is the seventh in a continuing series designed to bring under bibliographic control manuscript collections housed permanently in American repositories that are regularly open to scholars. The volume reports 2,392 collections located in 129 repositories. It brings the total number of collections described to 23,053, representing holdings in 723 repositories. The indexes in this volume cumulate the information published in the indexes to the 1967 issue. The general index is enlarged by some 38,600 references to an estimated 22,500 subjects and places, 11,330 personal names, and 4,770 corporate bodies, and now consists of more than 70,000 references to the collections described in the two volumes. The repository index enumerates, by name of organization holding them, the collections reported in this and the 1967 catalog. Two additional indexes note holders of reproductions of manuscripts.

The catalog entries are prepared from reports submitted by the repositories holding the manuscript collections. In this volume 63 repositories are represented by reports for the first time. The success of the catalog depends on the participation of the repositories, and we are grateful for their continued assistance—particularly when many report under extremely difficult conditions. We constantly endeavor to improve the program and to strive for comprehensive coverage.

INTRODUCTION

History. Scholars, particularly in the field of American history, were instrumental in urging the establishment of a center for locating, recording, and publicizing the holdings of manuscript collections available for research. They had long been frustrated by the difficulties of locating specific manuscripts and even of identifying repositories that may contain source materials.

In 1951 the Library of Congress began to prepare actively for a National Union Catalog of Manuscript Collections to parallel its catalogs of printed works but it was not until 1958 that the Library could begin to realize its plans. On November 29 of that year the Council on Library Resources, Inc., made a grant of $200,000 to underwrite the primary costs of the project. It later made supplemental grants amounting to $170,565 to continue the work to July 1964, when Congress appropriated funds to carry the program as part of the Library's work.

In 1959 the Manuscripts Section was established in the Descriptive Cataloging Division with responsibility for creating and conducting the program of the NUCMC. An advisory committee of nationally prominent scholars representing learned societies and other groups concerned with the preservation and control of manuscripts was appointed and continues to assist in the formulation of broad policies. An intramural committee on manuscript cataloging was reassembled and is called upon as occasion demands to guide the practical application of policies. Reports were soon being gathered from repositories all over the country and the first card in the new manuscript series was printed in June 1959, visible evidence that the project was under way.

Early in the operation of the program it was recognized that maintenance of a card file in the Library of Congress would not adequately meet the needs of scholars. The plan was enlarged to encompass the publication of the catalog using the printed cards as the text of the entries, arranging them in card-number sequence, and indexing them.

Pattern. The first volume, publishing the work done in 1959–61, was issued in 1962. As work progressed on the 1962 volume it was decided to combine and cumulate the name and subject indexes of the earlier volume and to issue separately a combined index for both. The 1963–64 volume started a new index which was cumulated in the volumes for 1965 and 1966. A third index began with the 1967 volume and is cumulated in the index to the present volume.

A list of the volumes published in this series, and their publishers, is given on the verso of the title page.

Scope. The holdings of manuscripts in the United States are so extensive that only by describing them in groups, rather than singly, can the project hope to cover them. As the intent of the catalog is to bring scholars and manuscripts together, only those collections are described that are located in public or quasi-public repositories that regularly admit researchers.

There are no limitations on the time, place of origin, or nature of the collections recorded, but qualifying repositories are asked to report material conforming to the following criteria:

1. A collection is defined as a large group of papers (manuscript or typescript, originals or copies, of letters, memoranda, diaries, accounts, logbooks, drafts, and the like, including associated printed or near-print materials) usually having a common source and formed by or around an individual, a family, or a corporate entity, or devoted to a single theme. Small groups consisting of only a few pieces should not be reported as collections in themselves but should be included in more comprehensive reports covering many such groups, either by an entry under an appropriate theme if possible, or by a general entry for the miscellaneous (residual) collections of the repository.

2. Private manuscripts in archival repositories and archival records found outside the normal archival repository should be reported but not archives located where one might expect to find them, as, for example, county records in a county courthouse.

3. Collections consisting entirely of photocopies and transcripts of original manuscripts are admissible when they are created from original manuscripts scattered in several repositories or from several collections within a repository, or when the repositories holding the originals either do not regularly admit researchers or are not located in the United States.

Sources of Information. The information about the collections comes from various sources: data sheets especially prepared by the repositories, copies of their catalog cards, and entries in published guides to their holdings. Since the time available for cataloging manuscripts varies from institution to institution, the descriptions differ with respect to completeness and detail. Moreover, the total holdings of large repositories may not always be reported completely, and the collections of some are not represented at all. These variations are inevitable in a project that depends on the cooperation of many people and organizations, all with limitations on their resources, to obtain the necessary data.

Catalog Entries. The NUCMC editors, members of the staff of the Manuscripts Section of the Descriptive Cataloging Division, prepare catalog entries from the information furnished by the repositories, accepting the reports as submitted but providing certain basic editing. They exclude those that fail to meet the specifications described above, or, with the consent of the holding institution, regroup collections to meet requirements.

The catalog entries have been prepared according to the Anglo-American Cataloging Rules (American Library Association, 1967). Headings previously established under earlier rules, however, have been retained under the Library of Congress policy known as "superimposition." This will explain differences in the form of headings for corporate bodies whose names are otherwise similar. As the rules for manuscript collections are based on standard rules for author and title entry and description and are designed for inclusion in a library card catalog, the entries resemble those for published materials. The elements are as follows:

1. Main entry. a) The name of a person, family, or corporate body around which a collection is formed if it contains material written by or addressed to the person, family, or body. b) The name of a personal collector if his name appears in the name of the collection. c) If neither of these choices is appropriate the collection is entered under title.

2. Title. The name by which the collection is known or a brief title supplied by the cataloger; inclusive dates of the manuscripts are given.

3. Physical description. Given in terms of items, linear feet of shelf space, reels or feet of microfilm, or in other suitable terms. Notation is made of the form of the manuscripts if they are not original.

4. Location. The name of the repository where the collection is housed.

5. Scope and content. A description of the types and groups of papers and documents in the collection, noting their subject matter, the names of the principal persons and corporate bodies with whom they deal, and other special features of the collection. For personal papers the note includes identifying biographical data.

6. Other information (when available). References to published and unpublished descriptions of the collection when they contain additional information; restrictions on access; literary rights; and provenance.

7. Identification number. The number assigned to entries. It consists of the symbol MS, the last two digits of the year in which the entry was printed, and a serial number.

Entry Arrangement. The arrangement of entries is determined by the identification numbers assigned by the printer. Beginning with the 1963 entries it has been possible to send fairly large groups of entries to the printer arranged alphabetically by repository, and under each repository by collection. This permits a degree of recognizable arrangement, which the reader can use advantageously through the Guide to Entries by Repository, found in the front of the 1963–64 and later volumes.

Information Received After Publication. When additions to a collection change its character or include material that would have been indexed if it had been in the original description of the collection, the additions are cataloged as a supplement to the collection. Entries 64–1141 and 68–2175 illustrate the form adopted.

Corrections or adjustments of errors obviously cannot be made to published entries but they can sometimes be remedied by changes in the next cumulated index. The misspelling of a name, for example, the attribution of an action to the wrong person, the mistaken location of an event, or the like, can be corrected in the index. When a collection has been removed from the reporting repository or, when for some other reason an entry is considered completely misleading, all references to it are omitted from the cumulated index.

Index. This index provides in one alphabet references to the names, places, subjects, and named historical periods reported in the catalog entries. Citations lead to the identification numbers that appear with each entry. Numbers are underscored when they represent main entries, or the names or subjects about which major portions of collections are formed. It provides numerous cross references including some which refer to index headings used in earlier volumes but about which there happens to be no material in this catalog.

1. Names. The index names all persons, families, and corporate entities, i. e., associations, institutions, business firms, governmental agencies, etc., associated with the various manuscripts. The nature of their association varies from case to case. Some are authors, some subjects, some addressees, while others are involved more tangentially. Inspection of the entry for the appropriate collection will generally clarify the relationship.

Family names are indexed by surname followed by the word family. The names of corporate bodies are entered in as many forms as may be useful, e. g., name, key word, and location.

2. Persons. Similar personal names have been studied and the individuals identified as far as possible by the use of vital dates, place of residence, or occupation; unresolved conflicts of identity resulting from similar names are indicated by asterisks before the names or the citation numbers. For example, *Holmes, Nathaniel (63–378), could not be identified with the Nathaniel Holmes, 1815–1901, listed in the Dictionary of American Biography, or the Nathaniel Holmes listed in the first volume of this catalog (60–1750). Since little is known about the persons designated by asterisks, it is possible that two or more citations following such names may refer to more than one person. An asterisk preceding a particular citation number means that it may not belong to the person under whose name it is listed; for example, the number *64–1290 after Holmes, Oliver Wendell, 1841–1935, may properly refer to Oliver Wendell Holmes, 1809–1894. Users of this index will often have the special knowledge required to resolve such uncertainties.

Descriptions that refer only to material about the estate of a deceased person are indicated under the person's name by the phrase Estate of; however, if the collection also contains other material, the estate is not singled out. The same system applies to the indexing of genealogical material under the name of a family, but genealogists can discover all genealogical material listed by family name under the direct entry GENEALOGY.

3. Places. Historical research in this country is so frequently concerned with study of the places where persons lived or where events occurred that geographic indexing of manuscript materials is imperative. From the beginning an index entry has been made for each place name (city, village, or county) and another for the State in which it is located. Entries under local places are modified by the subjects or topics with which the respective manuscript collections or parts of them appear to deal. Many descriptions do not report specific subjects pertaining to places, and in such instances place names have been subdivided by such general phrases as Family papers, Personal papers (i. e., of the individual), Letters from, Letters received in, or Resident of.

Every collection with material relating to a State or region has been indexed under the name of that political jurisdiction or area, whether or not it has also been indexed under a local place name. The names of these larger jurisdictions and areas have been subdivided by subject and topical terms which are often, though not necessarily, the same as those chosen for direct subject entries; and by such subjects as Economic conditions, History, Politics, Social life, and Travel and description, and such forms as Accounts and Legal documents, which, by their nature, are not appropriate as direct entries.

Citations to the three cities of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia are not repeated under their respective States' names. For example, PHILADELPHIA—Schools is repeated as SCHOOLS—Pennsylvania, but not as PENNSYLVANIA—Schools. Under PENNSYLVANIA—Schools will be found references to schools in all places in that State except Philadelphia.

4. Subjects. Subject and topical index entries have been chosen to describe as accurately as possible the contents of the various collections. Words and phrases that have several meanings have been explained briefly; note, for example, the explanations under ESTATE MANAGEMENT and ESTATES or FISH TRADE and FISHERIES. "See" and "see also" references are freely provided to lead the user to related entries.

Subjects are usually subdivided by names of countries, States, or regions and are repeated as subheadings under the names of these countries, States, and regions. In many instances this pattern forms a double or reverse likeness, but, whenever it has been possible to present an extra dimension in an entry or in the subdivisions by changing wording, by using chronology, or by other appropriate devices, the reverse image has been broken. For example, the index entry MERCHANTS is divided chronologically and geographically, while as a subdivision under a place it is unmodified.

Such subject phrases as RURAL SOCIOLOGY have often been entered in both direct and inverted form, i. e., RURAL SOCIOLOGY and SOCIOLOGY, RURAL. If, however, there are many citations or subdivisions, one element is selected for the index entry and a "see" cross reference is made from the other. "See" references are made also from some synonyms, although on occasion citations may appear under both terms.

Occupations and career activities are indexed if they appear to be the subjects of the writings. In the catalog entries the relationship between the note about the author and the description of the content of the collection is frequently so obscure that much valuable material may have been omitted from the index because the indexers could not assume that the material bears on the profession or occupation of the author.

5. Specificity. The words used are often those current in the period covered by the manuscripts, e. g., both LAND—Companies and REAL ESTATE BUSINESS or PERSIA and IRAN, with citations appropriate to each and cross references between them.

Most of the manuscripts reported in the catalog relate to the United States; consequently index entry words assume that relationship and begin with the significant subject word, e. g., REVOLUTION, not AMERICAN REVOLUTION, nor UNITED STATES—Revolution. Names of other countries are specified as required. Because of their applicability to almost every manuscript collection, the general topics "History," "Politics," "Economic conditions," and "Social life" are never used as main entries nor even as subdivisions under UNITED STATES. They are used under local place and State. The heading UNITED STATES is used only for official agencies of the Federal Government and for specific topics as they apply to the country as a whole.

The forms of manuscripts are rarely used as index entries although they are frequently given as amplification of subjects, names, or places, e. g., SHIPS—Logbooks, BOTANY—Lectures, LINCOLN, ABRAHAM—Newspaper clippings, MIDDLESEX CO., VA.—County records.

Chronology has been used to break up long lists of citations under some index entries. Of necessity, the time periods indicated are usually the inclusive dates of the collection and serve only as a general guide.

The catalog and its index are an aid to research, not a ready reference guide. Accordingly, investigators should search for both specific and general terms because both are used in the descriptions and general terms are presumptive clues to specific material.

Filing Arrangement. When the same name appears in the index as a personal name and as a place, family, or other name, the personal name precedes all of the others. Personal names are grouped together, followed by all other main index entries arranged alphabetically word by word without regard for punctuation. "Mc" is filed as if spelled "Mac," and abbreviations are filed as if spelled in full, e. g., "Co." as County, "St." as Saint, "Ste." as Sainte, "Mo." as Missouri. Subdivisions of a given entry are alphabeted in two groups: 1) subject terms, 2) States and countries. On occasion other subgroupings that will be obvious to the user have been made.

Example:

CHATFIELD, Andrew
CHATFIELD (L. W.) and Sons, firm
CHATFIELD, Louis
CHATFIELD-TAYLOR, Hobart
CHATFIELD, Ala.
  Dry goods business
  Personal papers
CHATFIELD and Brown, inc.
CHATFIELD Co., Miss.
CHATFIELD family
CHATFIELD, Minn.
CHATFIELD (Ship)
CHEESE industry and trade
  Shipping
  New York
  Wisconsin

A few topics have been given special treatment because of the extent of the entries under them, e. g., "Civil War," "Genealogy," "Maryland," and "United States." These have been distinguished by main headings in large type, with subdivisions capitalized as if they were main entries.

Repository Index. This is an alphabetical list of the manuscript repositories with holdings represented in this and the previous catalog. Under each repository are listed the collections described in the main part of the two catalogs. This is followed by a list of repositories holding duplicates of collections reported by other repositories and a list of repositories holding originals of reproductions.

Inquiries. Questions concerning the manuscript collections described in this series of catalogs should be addressed to the repositories holding them.

Suggestions for the improvement of the catalogs and inquiries concerning participation in the cataloging program should be addressed to Mrs. Arline Custer, Editor, NUCMC, Descriptive Cataloging Division, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. 20540.

Gregory, John Goadby, 1856–1947.

Papers, 1853–1946. 6 boxes.

In State Historical Society of Wisconsin collections (Madison)

Journalist, editor, politician, and local historian, of Milwaukee, Wis. Chiefly incoming correspondence, mainly to Gregory, with a few drafts of replies, reflecting the many facets of Gregory's career. Letters in the 1850's to his father, a Milwaukee pioneer and promoter, discuss prospects of the fur trade, Wisconsin land speculations, and proposals to encourage planned emigration to the area from England and Scotland. Letters to William E. Cramer, founder and publisher of the Milwaukee "Evening Wisconsin," during the latter half of the 19th century and letters in 1898 to journalist Alexander Thomson discuss political topics. Includes correspondence of Mrs. Cramer with Mrs. Lydia Ely, Gaetano Trentanove, and other artists and sculptors; MSS. of Gregory's writings: an autobiographical sketch, a biographical sketch of Amherst Willoughby Kellogg, and notes and other papers used in the preparation of a biography of Emanuel L. Philipp; and memoirs of Esau Johnson, a pioneer in the Wisconsin lead-mining region. Many letters, sometimes accompanied by programs and reports, concern Gregory's activities in social, professional, and cultural organizations. After 1925 Gregory's correspondence is concerned mainly with the writing and preparation of materials, the methods employed by a county historian in securing biographical materials, and relationships with publishers. Correspondents include Joseph W. Babcock, S. S. Barney, Victor L. Berger, Sherman M. Booth, Matthew Hale Carpenter, Paul D. Carpenter, William D. Conner, L. T. Crabtree, John J. Esch, Frank Flower, Zona Gale, Harlan Hall, William Dempster Hoard, Timothy O. Howe, John Jenkins, General Charles King, John Thomas Lee, Francis E. McGovern, Theobald Otjen, George H. LITERATURE and literary affairs

Here are entered general references to literature and literary affairs and papers of persons engaged in literary activities. References to literary figures outside the United States are also entered under the name of the country, subdivided by Literature and literary affairs, e. g., Great Britain—Literature and literary affairs. References to English usage both as a language and literary form are entered under English language and literature, particularly in the case of teachers of English, where no distinction can be made between the language and the literature. This applies to other languages and literatures as well.
